

Graphter Jim and Ursula Cheng Wave After Wave

A world of interactions between colours and music printed on paper

Wave after Wave sets about to visualise the movement and colour apparent in modern printmaking techniques. The show builds on a reputation for presenting new frontiers in digital art, cyanotype, and screen print.

The exhibition focuses primarily on new work from artists Graphter Jim and Ursula Cheng.

Graphter Jim's work is part digital part analogue as cyanotype: the digital elements are created with a customised app that took 5 years to modify. The work ranges from abstract landscapes to visual interpretations of music.

Ursula Cheng's exhibits are mainly screen prints, some made whilst on an artist's residency at the Amsterdam Grafisch Atelier, others at Edinburgh Printmakers, Union St. Cheng blends modern trends with traditional Chinese motifs.

Both the artists are currently based in Edinburgh and have exhibited across the city at various festivals and visual art events.
